On Juneteenth, group of Bay residents focus on improving the community

BY MARY LAVELLE
AD REPRESENTATIVE

LaKeila sat on her front porch in Bay St. Louis on Juneteenth this past Saturday. The heavy tropical rain the night before brought some relief, as there was a cool breeze and it seemed to open up many Juneteenth memories for her.

“My family would buy fireworks every year for New Year’s Eve, but they saved half of them to celebrate Juneteenth, six months later,” she said.

LaKeila, a mother of two young children, was raised in New Orleans. Every Juneteenth, her family and friends would gather with other families on a big corner field on First Street in New Orleans’ 9th Ward.

“I miss our big celebration!” she said. “We had my grandmother’s spaghetti with two different red sauces, red potatoes, red wine and lots of watermelon.” She teared up as she remembered family who have passed. She then exclaimed, “it was our Independence Day, and that’s the way it should be!”

Red soda, watermelon, red velvet cake and other red-hued foods are popular for Juneteenth celebrations. The red color symbolizes the bloodshed, struggle and the resilience of the African slaves.

Hurricane Katrina changed everything for LaKeila, as it did thousands of others. Some of the folks who celebrated Juneteenth with her family died during the flooding.

“Katrina changed a lot of things for me” she said, but ended with a wave of optimism: “Next week we are all meeting at City Park in New Orleans to begin a new

Family and friends of Katharine Ohman’s beautification work gathered at the unveiling of a sidewalk Heritage Star Plaque created in her honor. The plaque was placed on the walk Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis.

Last Friday, June 18, a small group braved the leading edge of Tropical Storm Claudette to gather for the long-awaited dedication by the Hancock County Heritage Trust Foundation and the Chamber of Commerce of the latest Heritage Star Plaque to be placed in Old Town Bay St. Louis.

The honoree is Katharine Truett Ohman, well known for her years of volunteer beautification efforts throughout the county, especially in the Bay.

Beginning with the early post-Katrina recovery period Mrs. Ohman has been instrumental in arranging donations of literally thousands of large, landscape-sized trees and overseeing all activities related to installing the trees and assuring proper maintenance to give the greatest chance of success. Her efforts frequently involved personal, physical work - digging, planting, mulching (generally followed by additional mulching), staking, etc., working with both municipal and county employees, a broad spectrum of community volunteers, inmate trustees and students as

Waveland okays mobile food vendor

Last week, the Waveland Board of Mayor and Aldermen discussed and approved a short-term sublease for city beach property near the Lighthouse for a mobile food vendor.

The motion read: “Consider approving resolution and short-term sublease for city beach property near the Lighthouse and at the foot of the Garfield Ladner Memorial Pier and Terrace Drive to Kendal and Casey Marquar with the monthly rental rate to be set and adjusted based upon appraisals and condition upon approval of the Mississippi Secretary of State’s Office and amendment to the city’s Lighthouse Tidlands lease.”

City attorney Malcolm Jones said that Mayor Mike Smith, who was absent from last Wednesday’s meeting, asked him to put the item together.

He said the idea is to get the mobile food vendor up and running during the summer months.

Ward 2 Alderman Bobby Richardson said he met with the Marquars at the site and it is their intention to use shipping container architecture.

“It’s not going to be something that just looks like a container,” he said. “Doors will open on both sides where you can serve out of one and serve out the other side and a deck on the outside with an eating area. And it’s going to be portable where it can be removed during any storm coming in.”

Ward 3 Alderman Shane LaFontaine, who was also acting as Mayor Pro Temp Wednesday, asked Jones if the city needed to advertise for bids.

Jones said that there are two statutes that apply.

“One of them is 57-7-1 and that statute allows the city to lease property if they choose to so for commercial purposes,” he said. “The second one is 21-17-1 and that is the one that has multiple ways that you can go ahead and lease city property. One of them is that you can advertise it, the second one is that if you determine it’s going to be used for economic and financial reasons and will foster and develop economic welfare for the city, then you can go ahead and have two appraisals done, take the average of the two appraisals and establish the rental rate. And you don’t have to go through the competitive bidding process.”

Jones added that the property in question is part of the Tidlands lease area.

“Technically, it’s a sublease of the Tidlands lease that we have which was, according to my research, was first done in 1997,” Jones said. “And it was amended twice in 2013 and 2017. I’ve actually proposed to the Hancock County School District (HCSD) recently celebrated the opening of the new district administration building with a ribbon cutting and open house. Attending the celebration were HCSD administrators, staff, district leaders, business partners, community leaders, and the Hancock High School JROTC.

The building is one of the final projects included in the $16.5 million bond proposal approved in 2019. The $2.2 million building is approximately 7,000 square feet and has an integrated audiovisual system throughout the building.

The design of the building also includes energy saving features such as 60KW rooftop mounted solar array capable of 76,000kwh per year, which is estimated to yield approximately $10,000 per year in savings.

The building also features a complete lighting control system with 100% LED fixtures.

At the celebration, Mr. Alan Dedeaux, Superintendent, thanked the taxpayers. He stated, "The taxpayers have always supported our schools and we are so grateful for that. We have wonderful facilities for our students, faculty and staff. With the projects included in this last bond, all of our schools are in great shape." He also recognized Mr. Judd Brooke, the donor of the land, and Teresa Merwin, the incoming superintendent.

Following the ribbon cutting, Mr. Ray Ladner was sworn into office by Kendra Necaise, Hancock County Circuit Clerk. Richard Loper, who previously served as the representative for District 1, recently moved out of the district and resigned last month. Ladner will assume school board duties until Dec. 31, 2022, when the District 1 term expires and an election is held.

In his Bay High career on the gridiron, Calomese totaled 142 total tackles with 76 solos, 27 tackles for loss, 9.5 sacks, 14 quarterback hurries, three forced fumbles, one pass defended, and one blocked punt.

He was also named to the All-Sea Coast Echo football team in 2019.

Calomese talked about his commitment with 247Sports, “Coach Charles Huff and his staff did a great job with my recruitment. I am a pass rusher so that is what they really talked to me about; however, I am a versatile player and can play several positions. They seemed to really value where they wanted me to go both on and off the field. It felt very genuine and Marshall feels like the right place for me. I cannot wait to get started.”

Calomese is part of first year head coach Charles Huff’s first recruiting class and plans to report to campus as soon as possible. He will have four years of eligibility remaining.

Huff was named Marshall University head coach in January 2021 after spending the 2020 season as assistant head coach and running backs coach for the Crimson Tide of The University of Alabama.

Calomese received interest from Southern Mississippi, Louisiana Tech, Houston, Samford, and Northern Illinois among others.

Marshall University is a member of Conference USA along with Florida Atlantic, Western Kentucky, Charlotte, Middle Tennessee State, Florida International, Alabama-Birmingham, Texas-San Antonio, Louisiana Tech, North Texas, Rice, Southern Mississippi, and Texas-El Paso.

Juneteenth celebration rescheduled for Saturday

This year’s Juneteenth celebration was rescheduled to the threat of inclement weather from Tropical Storm Claudette. It is scheduled for this Saturday, June 26 at MLK Park on Herlihy Street in Waveland.

BY CASSANDRA FAYRE
STAFF WRITER

The Waveland Helping Hands Community Organization will host a Juneteenth celebration this Saturday, June 26 at Martin Luther King, Jr., Park in Waveland.

Juneteenth, also known as Freedom Day or Jubilee Day, is an American holiday celebrated annually on June 19, commemorating the date in 1865 when Union Gen. Gordon Granger read federal orders in Galveston, Texas, that all previously enslaved people in Texas were free.

According to a WHHCO booklet, “Juneteenth is the oldest known celebration commemorating the ending of slavery in the United States. Dating back to 1865, it was on June 19 that the Union soldiers, led by Major General Gordon Granger, landed at Galveston, Texas with news that the war had ended and that the enslaved were now free. Note that this was two-and-a-half- years after President Lincoln’s Emancipation Proclamation - which had become official January 1, 1863. The Emancipation Proclamation had little impact on the Texans due to the minimal number of Union troops to enforce the new Executive Order. However, with the surrender of General Lee in April of 1865, and the arrival of General Granger’s regiment, the forces were finally strong enough to influence and overcome the resistance.”

WHHCO Vice-President Clarence Harris said the event is open to the entire community and invites everyone to come out and support it.

The day begins at 11 a.m. and will include booths, music, games, food, empowerment events, and 50/50 and TV raffle.

Harris also said that anyone interested in learning more about the COVID-19 vaccine will be able to fill out an application to receive one through Waveland Pharmacy. He added that the vaccine applications are now available for people ages 12 and up.

Harris said that there is still booth space available for $25.

For more information, contact Harris at 228-343-1174 or Earlene Washington at 228-263-4545.

Juneteenth tradition.”

Just a stone’s throw away from LaKeila’s front porch, there is a gathering place at the old Drummond’s service station, at the intersection of Spanish Trail and Bookter. That is where I met Dennis.

Dennis has lived in Bay St. Louis for 56 years. He said he remembers celebrating Juneteenth, but hasn’t for a while. He wants to be cautious about the new Covid variants. But actually Dennis thinks many of his friends are also being cautious.

He reflected, “Back in the day there were Black cops who lived in the Black neighborhoods. We need that again. There is something different these days. Maybe they just need better training.”

A nice gentleman named Stanley came up to me to tell me that years ago, he worked for the newspaper. He used to insert the ads that go into the middle of the paper. He was raised in Bay St. Louis and had never heard of Juneteenth until this year. He never heard about it in school — now, he wants to attend the Juneteenth celebration in Waveland.

I then met a man who I now call the “Mayor of Drummond’s Corner” (Bookter and Spanish Trail), Mr. Charles Drummond. He was born across Keller Street in 1946, one of three children to Champ and Mamie Drummond, who opened the service station next door.

Charles almost seems to hold court from the front porch of his beautiful brick home. Perhaps memories are held together by the strong wrought iron fence that surrounds his home, next door to the old service station that his parents owned and where men continue to meet every late afternoon.

He said he has listened to his family’s stories his entire life, but had never heard of Juneteenth until a few years ago. Kevin, a younger man sitting next to him, had never celebrated Juneteenth, but plans to celebrate in Waveland this year.

Larryetta, who seems to be the wind of change for this intersection in Bay St. Louis, told me that the reason some Black people don’t know about Juneteenth is because it was not taught in the schools.

Larryetta and Charles are working together to reconstruct the old service station for a community purpose. They have a grant writer and are seeking permits from the city and hopefully city hall cooperation to build Drummond’s Community Center, an education and health services information center.

“Our village center will serve this area because it really does take a village,” Larryetta said. She plans to celebrate Juneteenth this year and for many years to come.

Hancock County officials are still working to assess the damage caused over the weekend locally by Tropical Storm Claudette.

“We’re still doing damage assessments at this time,” Hancock Emergency Management Agency Director Brian “Hooty” Adam said Tuesday. “So far, we’ve had 81 people report they had some type elf flooding. ... Some of them had just a few inches of water, but we’ve had some that had three to four feet in their house.”

“We also had close to 17 rescues,” Adam said, although no actual injuries had been reported as of Tuesday morning.

Claudette began as a tropical disturbance and only reached tropical-storm strength after it actually made landfall in Louisiana early Saturday morning. It weakened to a tropical depression again, but still hit South Mississippi with an enormous amount of rain and tidal surge. It strengthened to a tropical storm again on Monday morning as it moved across North Caroline.

In addition to damages at private property in Hancock County, the Hancock County Youth Court building on Court Street in Bay St. Louis had some roof damage caused by the storm, Adam said.

Although Gov. Tate Reeves did not declare a state of emergency in advance of Claudette’s landfall, Adam said, “the county and cities signed a local proclamation and sent it to the state,” meeting the criteria to allow Hancock County and its communities to apply for emergency funding.

If you experienced flooding to your primary dwelling that falls in any of the categories listed below, please report it to the Hancock County Emergency Management Agency by calling 228-255-0942. If you have insurance, please report issues to your insurance provider in addition to reporting to the Hancock County EMA.

Governor Tate Reeves Announces Timeline to Draw Down National Guard Troops to End COVID Mission State of Emergency to End Once Mission is Complete

SEA COAST ECHO

After months of planning with Dr. Dobbs, General Boyles, Director McCraney and other key leaders of the Governor’s COVID-19 Task Force, the timeline for withdrawal of National Guard troops has been finalized. The State of Mississippi will be ceasing all operations with the Mississippi National Guard on July 15, 2021.

Governor Reeves

Gov. Tate Reeves

also announced today that the termination of the COVID-19 State of Emergency will take effect on August 15, 2021 at 11:59 p.m.

“I want to thank all Mississippians for their sacrifices over the past 15 months. Your actions resulted in a significant decline of COVID-19 cases and allowed our state to effectively manage the impacts of the virus. I’m also extremely proud of the way our Mississippi National Guard, MS Department of Health, MEMA, and other state agencies have capably handled this pandemic.

With their help, we’ve administered nearly 2 million COVID-19 vaccinations,” Governor Tate Reeves said. “While a State of Emergency should no longer be necessary after August 15, all Mississippians should remain vigilant, get vaccinated, and follow public health guidance.”

“Mississippi is winning the battle against COVID-19! Mississippi National Guard Soldiers and Airmen have served with honor and dedication supporting the Governor’s COVID-19 Task Force since March 2020,” Adjutant General of the Mississippi National Guard, Maj. Gen. Janson D. Boyles said.

“The Governor’s timeline to lift Mississippi’s State of Emergency declaration on August 15, 2021, ensures our over 1,500 service members complete all necessary out-processing requirements and receive the benefits and entitlements they have earned during their dedicated service to our state.”

well as son, Andrew, and her long-suffering husband, John.

She continues to this day to donate many hours of her time to the BSL Community Garden, Edible Forest, Memorial Tree Plantings and to coordinate similar activity through several organizations including the Chamber. She was the 2016 Jody Compretta Person of Passion Award winner in addition to recognition in her Education and Professional Mental Health careers. Her continuing beautification and related projects have been noted in these pages and elsewhere for well over a decade and are expected to continue for many years more.

The award, widely acknowledged as “well deserved,” was approved by both the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the Bay St. Louis City Council. Coordinated by local developer Chet Leblanc, who started the program several years ago, the plaque was created by a Florida-based foundry and installed by Reed’s Masonry in the sidewalk in front of the Bay Town Inn on N. Beach Blvd. It was financed by donations from dozens of individuals. The inscription read “Katharine Truett Ohman, Community Servant” and the words “Beautification*Environment*Community.”

In the center of the five-pointed star is a graphic representation of a Louisiana Iris. Mrs. Ohman was responsible for the adoption of that Iris as Bay St. Louis’s Official Flower, which she continues to plant throughout the area and arrange for donations of large numbers from a variety of donors to individuals, schools and libraries.

Katharine’s friends and family hosted a surprise reception, catered by Michelle Nichols of Almost Home Catering. The reception was saved from TS Claudette through the generosity of Bay Town Inn owner, Nikki Moon, who came to the rescue opening her home and effectively hosting the reception. John Wiebmer acted as MC for the Foundation and introduced comments from former BSL Mayor Les Fillingame and former Councilwoman Wendy McDonald, both of whom were in office during much of Ohman’s work after Hurricane Katrina. Fillingame recounted one incident in which he accepted an award to him as mayor for accomplishments almost entirely attributable to Katharine.

Among the guests were former BSL Beautification Dept. Director Jimmy Loiacano, with whom Ohman worked very closely for several years. Also in attendance were BSL Councilman-at-Large Gary Knoblock, Councilman Gene Hoffman and John Rosetti. Katharine’s daughter, Jennifer Waggoner, and brother, Felix Truett III, were on hand to celebrate the occasion along with another Diamondhead resident, from New Jersey, retired police chief, Phil Muller.

Lost Memories

We spend our lives making memories.

Memories that include family vacations, graduations, births, weddings, holidays, family gatherings, etc.

In some of our darkest hours, those memories can act as a warm and comforting blanket to remind us of better times and to help remember our loved ones who have passed away.

But what happens when those memories start to fade, replaced with fear of surroundings, the inability to recognize loved ones, and confusion?

According to alz.org, Alzheimer's disease, which affects about 6.2 million Americans, is a "degenerative brain disease and the most common form of dementia. Dementia is not a specific disease. It's an overall term that describes a group of symptoms."

"Alzheimer's is a type of dementia that affects memory, thinking, and behavior," the website states. "Symptoms eventually grow severe enough to interfere with daily tasks."

One of the most common symptoms of Alzheimer's is difficulty remembering newly learned information, the website states.

"Alzheimer's changes typically begin in the part of the brain that affects learning," the website states. "As Alzheimer's advances though the brain it leads to increasingly severe symptoms, including disorientation, mood, and behavior changes; deepening confusion about events, time, and place; unfounded suspicions about family, friends, and professional caregivers; more serious memory loss and behavior changes; and difficulty speaking, swallowing and walking."

On June 7, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration announced the accelerated approval of Aduhelm for the treatment of Alzheimer's.

According to the FDA's website, Aduhelm is the first new treatment approved for Alzheimer's since 2003 and "targets the fundamental pathophysiology of the disease."

"Researchers evaluated Aduhelm's efficacy in three separate studies representing a total of 3,482 patients," the website states. "The studies consisted of double-blind, randomized, placebo-controlled dose-ranging studies in patients with Alzheimer's disease. Patients receiving the treatment had significant dose-and-time dependent reduction of amyloid beta plaque, while patients in the control arm of the studies had no reduction of amyloid beta plaque."

Amyloid beta plaque is a "hallmark" of Alzheimer's disease, the FDA's website states.

"Under the accelerated approval provisions,

The historian, Etienne Maxson, reported in his important 1930 pamphlet, The Progress of the Races, that as a slave he would haul cotton for his planter master fifty miles at night by a horse drawn wagon to get his precious cargo to a boat for New Orleans. Hancock County became a lawless no man's land subject to Yankee raids, Confederate cavalry intrusions, and migrating bands of jayhawkers, deserters, and bandits. During the war the economy of Hancock County came to a standstill. In one Yankee raid, the Shieldsboro Courthouse was burned down as well as St. Luke's Episcopal Church. The sawmills closed. Henry Weston then decided to operate a salt production plant in Lakeshore that recovered salt from boiling seawater. In Gainesville, a Police Jury patrolled the countryside to pro-

The regular citizens of Hancock County needed salt, coffee, sugar, flour, and medicines. The fishing villages on the coast could trade seafood and sea salt with the farmers up county for meat and vegetables. Sadly, the Yankee raiders confiscated all visible horses, mules, and cows. Local fishermen engaged in illicit barter with Federal soldiers at Fort Pike trading seafood for the previously mentioned staples. Parched corn or sweet potato was used as a substitute for coffee. Cornmeal for many families on the coast was the only staple food. In Shieldsboro (now Bay St. Louis), seafood replaced beef, mutton, and pork. Mullet fish was called "Biloxi Bacon."

In the fall of 1863, a company of Silby's Alabama cavalry skirmished with a company of Union soldiers near Shieldsboro. The Yankees were defeated and a few Union soldiers were taken prisoner. Four wounded Union soldiers were placed in a local residence near Our Lady of the Gulf Church where the Sisters of Charity treated them.

Shortly thereafter, a Union gunboat, Commodore, landed eighty soldiers to rescue these men on October 20, 1863. A Confederate Captain Marshall was shot dead in the encounter.

In retaliation for previous events, the Yankee soldiers proceeded to burn Lockett Hall. Indeed, they actually intended to burn down the whole town in punishment for resistance. However, just at the right moment, Father Henry Le Duc (1837-1897) came forward holding a silver crucifix out in front of him and blocked the path of the raiding party. He requested that they cease and desist. Fortunately, these soldiers were Irish Catholics from Massachusetts. Miraculously, the soldiers respectfully

The Trickle Down Impact of Student Loan Debt

Today, Americans hold more than $1.7 trillion in student loan debt, and it's having a tremendous impact on the way we live, work, and build our future. Here in Mississippi, students tend to graduate with about $30,000 worth of debt. In a state where the median individual income is just $24,500, that's an outsized financial burden.

The consequences of this student loan debt go well beyond simple dollars and cents, however, often affecting workers' take-home pay, future savings and retirement, and lifestyle.

According to a recent TD Bank survey, one-fifth of take-home pay is used to repay student loan debt, often surpassing car payments and even rent. Here's where the trickle-down impacts begin.

With such a significant portion of one's paycheck going to student debt repayment, many borrowers have less to spend, and more importantly, save. In fact, the vast majority of borrowers (61 percent) are putting away less than one-tenth of their income each month; many are saving nothing at all.

This lack of savings shows up in a multitude of ways. Nearly half (41 percent) of the TD Bank survey respondents reported delaying 401(k) contributions and about the same portion said they lack a rainy day fund, leaving many to max out credit cards for emergency expenses.

How this translates from finances to lifestyle is easy to see. The TD Bank survey found that 60 percent of student loan borrowers don't take vacations. 36 percent delayed becoming a homeowner. 35 percent rarely dined out. 26 percent delayed having kids. 21 percent put off their wedding. The list could go on, but I think the bottom line has already become obvious: Major life milestones are getting postponed – or skipped altogether – because of student loan debt.

So, what do we do about it? Financial gurus advise borrowers to make the minimum monthly payment every month and, when appropriate, consider refinancing your loans.

Of course, for future graduates (and their families), the best thing to do is prepare. College Savings Mississippi, a division of your State Treasury, offers two Mississippi 529 plans that can help reduce – or eliminate – the need for student loans. Many families choose to lock in today's tuition rates and prepay college altogether with MPACT, while others opt to contribute to a tax-advantaged savings account with MACS. There are huge advantages to both, so if you are a parent or grandparent it's worth a look on our website to learn more.

Beginning on July 15, most Mississippi parents will begin receiving a monthly Child Tax Credit payment from the federal government. Consider investing those funds into your child's education. To learn more, visit Treasury.MS.gov/CollegeSavings or call my office at (601) 359-3600.

Mississippi Treasurer David McRae is the 55th Treasurer for the State of Mississippi. In this role, he helps manage the state's cash flow, oversees College Savings Mississippi, and has returned more than $27 million in unclaimed money to Mississippians. Former Hancock County Sheriff’s deputy convicted of simple assault/domestic violence

STAFF REPORT

Patrick Dell, 36, a former patrol deputy with the Hancock County Sheriff’s Office, Wednesday, was convicted of committing an act of simple assault - domestic violence while off duty.
According to a release from the Hancock County Prosecutor Olen Anderson’s office, Dell was employed as a patrol deputy with the Diamondhead division of the sheriff’s office at the time of the incident.
According to testimony, a “former girlfriend arrived at his residence on Lauren Necaise Road, north of Kiln, on Sept. 7, 2019, to retrieve some belongings. After getting the items, a verbal argument ensued outside the residence and Dell retrieved a personal-owned 9mm pistol from his truck and fired one round.”

According to the victim’s testimony, the “weapon was discharged in her direction, but according to Dell, the weapon was fired away from the victim as a warning shot to get her to leave. Dell never called the sheriff’s office to report the victim as a trespasser and a child was in the vehicle behind the victim when the shot was fired.”
According to the report, after the shot was fired, the victim called 911. Deputies arrived soon after and arrested Dell.
Dell was immediately

Patrick Dell

placed on leave and resigned his position with the sheriff’s office shortly thereafter, the release states.
Dell’s case was originally tried in Hancock County Justice Court where Justice Court Judge Desmond Hoda found Dell guilty, the release states.

Dell appealed to Hancock County Court where Judge Trent Favre also found him guilty after a half-day trial, the release states.
Anderson prosecuted the matter and “thanked the quick action of the sheriff’s deputies at the scene and a thorough investigation.”
Anderson also thanked the victim, who he said “never wavered during the legal process to see justice done.”
Based on the state’s recommendation, considering Dell’s clean record before and since, Judge Favre’s sentencing gave Dell credit for time served while waiting for bond, Anderson said.

Bay P.D. probing death of man whose body was found in the street at Shoreline Park

ECHO STAFF

The Bay St. Louis Police Department is investigating the death of a man whose body was found Thursday afternoon in the street at Shoreline Park.
At about 3 p.m. Thursday, Police Chief Gary Ponthieux Jr. said in a press release, officers “responded to the intersection of Road 558 and Sixteenth Street in response to a deceased male in the roadway.”
Pearl River County Coroner Derek Turnage -- who is serving Hancock County while local Coroner Jim Faulk is on suspension due to a pending investigation -- also responded to the scene, Ponthieux said.
“The deceased adult male has not been identified and the cause of death is under investigation,” Ponthieux said. “An autopsy is pending.”
Ponthieux asked that anyone with information about the incident contact the Bay P.D.’s Criminal Investigations Division at 228-467-9222. You can also contact Crime Stoppers at 877-787-5898; or submit an anonymous tip at www.mscoastercrimestoppers.com.

which provide patients suffering from the disease earlier access to the treatment, the FDA is requiring the company, Biogen, to conduct a new randomized, controlled clinical trial to verify the drug’s clinical benefit,” the website states. “If the trial fails to verify clinical benefit, the FDA may initiate proceedings to withdraw approval of the drug. Aduhelm was granted fast track designation which seeks to expedite the development and review of drugs that are intended to treat serious conditions where initial evidence showed the potential to address an unmet medical need.”
Aduhelm was made at Biogen, which is located in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

There is no cure for Alzheimer’s, but this treatment may delay decline and help lessen symptoms, such as memory loss and confusion, the Alzheimer’s Association writes.
And I’m not surprised that many scientists and other Alzheimer’s experts believe that there’s not enough evidence to support the claims.
But, speaking for myself here, if I had a disease like Alzheimer’s, I would think I had nothing to lose to try out this new treatment.
Sure, it could have some unpleasant side effects and maybe worse ones, but suffering through a disease like Alzheimer’s sounds terrifying.
Three out of my four grandparents suffered from some type of dementia.

It wasn’t easy to watch and I can only imagine how it felt to experience it.
I recently rewatched one of my favorite television shows, Boston Legal. The pairing of James Spader and William Shatner was such a brilliant move. Add in Candice Bergen and you have a hit on your hands.
I’m also a huge James Spader fan. If he’s in it, I’m watching it.
William Shatner’s character Denny Crane is in the beginning stages of Alzheimer’s.
In the series finale, entitled, “Last Call,” James Spader’s character Alan Shore helps Denny fight for the right to take an unapproved Alzheimer’s drug. The case in the show goes to the U.S. Supreme Court.

If you are familiar with the show, it is known for breaking some boundaries and hardly holding back when it comes to matters of importance. Also, Alan is known for his long closing arguments.
I often cried during them because yes, I’m a sap, but more so because not much has changed in the world since the show ended in 2008.
The fact that Denny had Alzheimer’s in the show reminded me of the struggles my grandparents faced.
In front of the “Supreme Court,” Alan gives one of his speeches.
“Denny is my best friend, I love him with all my heart,” Alan said. “If I could yank that horrible disease out of his body I would fight it, and I would win. I would use every ounce of my strength and I would win, if I could. But I can’t. My best friend is dying of an incurable disease that will rob him of himself before it finally robs him of his life. And I’m sorry, I don’t give a damn what the case law says. You simply cannot look a dying man in the eye and say you don’t get the right to try and save yourself.”

I tend to agree. After a year of people moaning and groaning about taking care of their own health and safety (blah blah), there are still roadblocks to exploring every available option, whether it be legal reasons or the astronomical costs of medications.
I have seen how dementia robbed those I love of their dignity. I have seen that flicker of fear in their eyes when they didn’t recognize me. I have seen them confined to a bed staring at the ceiling, mute and unmoving.

So, if there are options to be explored, then yes, I think they should be available to those that want it. Just like people make out a living will, people should also discuss if they want to take a medication that could make their living with Alzheimer’s a bit more bearable.
June is Alzheimer’s and Brain Awareness Month and I hope that one day there will be more effective treatments and maybe even a cure for this awful disease.

ilynn Curet Favre. He is survived by four sisters, Marie Hendrycy, Susan Hoda, Kathryn Schwan and Elizabeth Ducomb; and three brothers, James Favre, Martin Favre and Michael Favre.

JAMES R. GINN

James R. Ginn, retired Senior Vice President and former Director for Hancock Bank, now known as Hancock Whitney Bank, age 79 and of Diamondhead, MS, passed away on Wednesday, June 2nd, 2021, in New Orleans, LA.

James was born in Meridian, MS, on June 8th, 1941. James attended Bay St Louis High School, Pearl River Community College, Delta State University, and completed the prestigious Graduate School of Banking at Louisiana State University.

“Mr Ginn,” as many called him, served Hancock Bank as a dedicated officer since 1962 and he played an integral part in the success of the Hancock organization as a member of the Company’s Senior Management Committee since August 1984. His loyal service included positions as branch manager, loan officer, Western Division Manager for Mississippi, Mississippi Chief Retail Banking Officer, and Chief Credit Officer. During his 11 years serving on the Hancock Bank Board of Directors and his 41 years as a Hancock Bank Associate his insightful leadership and contributions facilitated five decades of corporate growth throughout some of the Gulf South’s most dynamic markets and earned him an appointment to the esteemed Mississippi Bankers Association Forty-Year Club. James felt he had an unwavering mission to help people achieve their financial goals and dreams.

James’ civic, educational, philanthropic, and religious commitments as well as his joviality and spiritual strength endeared him to his colleagues, friends, family, and to his local community. He served South Mississippi loyally as president of the Hancock County Heart Association, the Bay St Louis Jaycees, the Hancock County United Way, and Hancock County Cystic Fibrosis Foundation as well as a Rotarian, a member of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, and the Bay St Louis City School Board.

James felt that one of his greatest civic accomplishments happened during the time he served as the president of the Pearl River Community College Alumni Association and as a member of the institution’s Foundation Board. After the September 11th, 2001 attack on America the president of Pearl River Community College, Dr William A Lewis, saw a need for a place of spiritual refuge for the students on campus. He asked James Ginn and also Donna Lee to head a campaign to raise funds for the construction of a chapel on the west end of the Poplarville campus. A total of $750,000 was quickly raised and the Malone Chapel was built. It is a beautiful sanctuary that will be there for generations to come. As a result of his dedication and service James Ginn was inducted into the Pearl River Community College Lifetime Achievement Hall of Fame on April 17, 2014. He was also selected as Alumnus of the Year in 2003.

One of James’ favorite opportunities to serve his community was to serve on the Board of Directors of Coast Electric Power Association as the Director representing District #3.

James has inspired enduring faith among hundreds of Gulf Coast residents as an interim pastor for various congregations throughout the community.

James’ greatest joy was being with his loving family. He always looked forward to traveling with his wife, children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. He enjoyed taking everyone to his favorite restaurants, vacationing in the Smoky Mountains, enjoying the Florida sunshine in Disney World, all the while telling his famous stories and entertaining everyone. He enjoyed laughing and celebrating life. He never met a stranger. He loved to ask young people the question, “Do you want to know the secret of success?” Of course, most responded, “Yes!” He then would quote Matthew 6:33: “But seek ye first the Kingdom of God, and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you.” He would then testify of the Lord’s blessings that are available to each of us.

James was proceeded in death by his father, Leon Ginn; his mother, Pauline Lewis Ginn; his daughter, Deborah Ginn Alford; his sisters, Thelma Ginn, Lucille Ginn McDonald, Dorothy Ginn Phillips, Lula Mae Crawford Adam; his brothers, Leon Dennis Ginn, and John Howard Ginn.

Survivors include his loving wife of 64 years, Jacquelyn “Jackie” Jones Ginn; his son, James Robert Ginn, II; his son-in-law, Doug Alford; his granddaughters, Emily Alford Carr (Joseph) of Montpelier, VT, Ashley Alford Bruno (Christopher) of Memphis, TN; his great-grandchildren, James Ashley Ellen Carr, Scarlett Klebes Carr, Campbell Elizabeth Bruno, and Beau Christopher Bruno.

Flowers are always appreciated but if you prefer to make a charitable contribution instead, please consider two of the family’s favorites: Samaritan’s Purse and The King’s Kitchen

Visitation was held on Tuesday, June 8th from 12:00 noon to 1:45 p.m. at RIEMANN FAMILY FUNERAL HOME, 9113 Kiln Delisle Road, Pass Christian, MS 39571. The funeral service will began at 2:00 p.m. in the funeral home chapel. James Ginn will be laid to rest at Gardens of Memory Memorial Park Cemetery, Third Street entrance in Bay St. Louis.

EDWARD EARL “EDDIE” HOLDEN

Edward Earl “Eddie” Holden, 63, a resident of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, passed away on Monday, June 14, 2021 in Franklin, Louisiana. Graveside services will be held at a later date in the Holden Cemetery in Kiln, Mississippi.

OREN CYRUS PARKER

A peaceful journey of life began for Oren Cyrus Parker, 85, of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi on September, 14, 1935 and ended when he was called for the next journey on June 4, 2021 in the care of Canon Hospice Facility, Gulfport, Mississippi.

Oren was one of three children, the only son born to the late James Parker and Irma Dorsey in New Orleans, Louisiana.

He was a lifelong member of Valena C. Jones United Methodist Church, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.

Oren received his early education from Valena C. Jones School, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi and later went on to earn status of Master Chef during his many years working in the food industry.

He started his work with Bobbie Ann Bakery, a noted bakery in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.

Oren was an adventurous man, so when the call came, he packed up and moved to Chicago, Illinois where he worked with Exclusive Restaurants for 30 years as a chef. Once more, when Oren felt the need to move again, he packed up and headed home where his love and desire to travel was met by joining the Merchant Marines as a Merchant Seaman. While in the Merchant Marines from 1990 to 2016, Oren traveled the world four times and visited many countries. It was during this adventure that he attained the distinction of Master Chef. During the times he returned home, he shared many interesting stories of the places he saw and the people he interacted with. He really kept family and friends laughing about his travels. He painted such vivid pictures of his times away from home, one could almost see, smell, and touch what he experienced. Yet, Oren never failed to bring the most captivating gifts to family and friends. And of course, he had an enthralling tale to go along with it. Thanks Unk!

In addition to his family, Oren enjoyed fishing, gardening, dancing, and cooking. He prided himself on being the best chef ever. There was nothing he could not cook or bake.

He was a kind and gentle soul who was willing to assist anyone in whatever way he could. Oren was always the life of the party always having a joke or two to tell keeping all in stitches.

Oren Cyrus was preceded in death by his parents; a son, Oren Kennedy; two sisters, Gloria Payne and Yama Fennick.

Oren leaves to cherish his memory: Grandson, Oren Lewis; daughter-in-law Gloria Kennedy; six nieces: Barbara (Martin) Elzy; Janet Johnson; Connie Lampley; Myra (Lexie) Haynes; Candace (Arietaeus) Johnson; Yolanda (Reggie) Graham; and one nephew, Luther (Michelle) Fennick. A host of great-nieces, nephews, relatives, and friends.

It’s hard to forget someone who gave us so much to remember!

Services for Oren C. Parker were held Friday, June 11, 2021 at Lockett-Williams Mortuary, Gulfport, Mississippi.

Secretary of State to go ahead and modify the lease to allow for this mobile vendor.”
Jones said that there are also a number of floodplain regulations that the vendor owners would have to meet, one of which is having an evacuation plan on file. If the vendor did not comply in the event of a mandatory evacuation order from the city, the lease would be revoked.
“It’s looks like this is a good way to go ahead and provide the amenities that people expect to have down at the beach where you can go get a snack,” Jones said. “I think their idea is to maybe expand with some other services. It’s a bit of an experiment to see how this would work. It’s a short-term lease not to exceed six months. It could be renewed for longer periods of time. That’s another thing that the FEMA floodplain regulations require is that the lease not exceed six months.”
Ward 1 Alderman Jeremy Burke said that one of his issues is that the board received notice of the item only about two hours prior to Wednesday’s meeting.
“If it seems like something is rushed, it just seems like something is wrong,” he said. “We didn’t have the site plan. Not to say this isn’t a great plan. I guess the other thing is, is that the rent is nonexistent. But, in my head, because we’ve had to do it for every single other thing for the last seven or six years, I’m not saying go out for high bids, but at least go out for RFPs to see what’s going to be best fit there. Something just doesn’t pass the smell test.”
Jones said that the mayor asked him to find out rates.
“I tried to reach out to the county because he told me that they have five or six locations along the beach that they put out for bid and they get like $1,000 or something like that per year,” Jones said. “I didn’t get that confirmation back. It was moved pretty quick, no doubt about it. And it’s not my intent to try and rush this if you’re not ready. But, there is a need. This will be something that can be done for this summer season as an experiment. And if you don’t like it, don’t want to do it, then don’t. If you don’t feel comfortable, Jeremy, I don’t want to push you to do it. But I do want to tell you this, it’s not the kind of thing you can sit on for long. So we may have to come back at a special meeting if you need a little bit more time to think about it.”

Richardson said that even though it was a spur-of-the-moment addition to the agenda, the board has been discussing having a “restaurant on the beach for years now.”
“In particularl, I’ve spoken with Kendal 100 times about it,” he said. “It’s very much experimental, but if it works, then it’s a catalyst for others to come in and say ‘hey, this restaurant’s making it, let’s get this done.’”
Jones said that it’s not going to be a restaurant, but a “snack” shop, a “grab n’ go.”
Jones asked Burke what his “unreadiness and worry” about the agenda item was.
Burke said that this item just “got thrown on.”
“I didn’t get a chance to review the lease until I sat down here,” he said. “And of the issues that we might have to be having, I don’t want somebody, if we say ‘yeah, it’s a go,’ and this come unraveled. That’s not fair to the Marquars. I mean, I know they’re ready to go, but that’s not fair to be like ‘hey, this is great’ but then the health department says ‘that’s a no go.’ I don’t know why it would be a no go. I just feel like our ducks aren’t in a row.”
Jones said that from what he understands, the Marquars are willing to undertake the risks involved.
“We can approve this all conditioned upon them taking the proper permits, for sure,” Jones said. “That’s a no-brainer.”
LaFontaine said that he felt along the same lines as Burke.
“I just received it,” he said. “Bobby, you said you’ve already spoken with them, you know more of what they’re looking to do, what the outside is going to look like and everything else. We don’t have any of that information.”

Jones said that he didn’t have a picture of what the container might look like with him at the meeting.
He added that this agenda item wasn’t his concept.”
“The mayor called me and said ‘can we do this and can you put this together,’” Jones said. “It was novel. But I had kind of done something before that I knew about. I made a lot of phone calls to the Secretary of State, because I was thinking that we would have the county’s permission to, but because it’s Tidelands area, we don’t really have to get the county’s permission to do it. The other concern I had was how do I make this work under the flood ordinance so I had to go through all those details and figure out that. And I found ways to comply with those laws. And the other was, do you have to advertise? Of course, there’s a law that allows you to do this. This is unique, it’s not a typical deal. We’re not talking about a 25-year lease, we’re talking about a short-term lease. If we were looking at something like that, then I would say ‘yes, let’s wait. And if there’s unreadiness and you’re not ready for it, the majority of you are not, I would suggest you carry this forward, not for long, because this is going to be a chance to be available for the summer.”
Richardson said that the Marquars plan to have a 40-foot container, with a kitchen, and built-in restroom.
Burke said that he was not going to make a “split-decision.”
“I would prefer this to be tabled,” he said. “This is not a ‘no’ vote. This is more I need to understand and grasp the concept of going out there and actually visualizing what’s happening. Commerce there is a great plan, but I’m just trying to figure out in the big picture, how this all works.”
Jones gave another rundown of the Marquars’ proposal.
“What they’re talking about doing is taking a standard 40-foot container,” he said. “It’s going to be modified to where you’ll have an opening on the beach side and an opening on the other side, which will be towards the road. And they’ll have it where they can fold up those doors. You can walk up to it and make an order. They’ll have a door going into it as well. I wasn’t aware that they had the bathroom part of the facility. Because originally, the plan was that the people that would come there would use the bathroom at the Lighthouse. There will be tables outside of it over on the beach side. A few tables, not very many, some chairs with beach umbrellas, that sort of thing. And it will have some type of landscaping around it just to try and make it look a little bit more appealing. Now, it’s going to have quick disconnects for the utilities and probably have water. And it will have the possibility of being connected to the sewer line. Other than that, they’ll have some electricity they’ll have to drop down to it, I suppose. The idea is for it to be in place not to exceed six months.”

Jones added that the lease could be renewed, should the board decide to do so.

Burke said that the mayor and Richardson have both had conversations with the Marquars.

“The mayor had this information before and he didn’t release it until 5 o’clock this afternoon,” Burke said. “That’s my issue.”

Jones said that he guessed the mayor was waiting for him to gather the documentation to present.

Burke requested to change the motion to approve the lease to a motion to table.

The motion to table died for a lack of second.

The motion to approve the lease passed. Richardson and Ward 4 Alderman Charles Piazza voted ‘yes.’ Burke abstained citing lack of information. LaFontaine did not vote due to his Mayor Pro Temp status that evening.

Burke said that “we should not add anything else to the agenda the day of the motion. It should have been a motion to amend the agenda. I think that’s unfair that the mayor added something two hours before the agenda. I think that’s unfair to all of us.”
Jones said that the mayor has been “under the weather” for the past few days.

“I think, had he not been, we wouldn’t be here today,” he said. “I take a little responsibility. I don’t want the mayor to be put under the bus. I’m going to take responsibility for the fact that it took me this long to get this information together for you. And I was trying to cover all the bases.”

In other action:
The board declared

413 Wainwright Street a menace to public health and safety. The motion includes allowing the owner 30 days to demolish the structure.
The board voted to continue the blighted property public hearing for 624 Hwy. 90 until a later date.
The next meeting is scheduled for July 6 at 6:30 p.m.

Moments that matter

Time is a subject which we tend to mention a lot in our daily lives but may not stop to consider its power and importance. People understand time in a variety of ways. We may think of time as a commodity and refer to “how much time” we have.

We may think of time as movement and comment on “how time flies”.

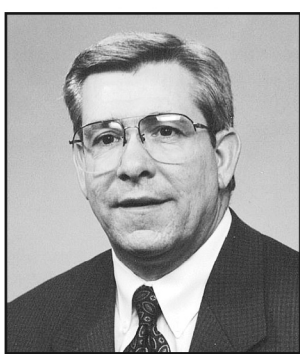

Time may be considered as a special moment or period in history, such as the time of the Civil War, the time of the Great Depression, or the time when we got married.

We may speak of time in terms of the present moment. “What time is it now?” Or, a future moment, “What time will you arrive?”

Time is important in the scriptures, and it is often part of contemporary religious conversations. There are at least two words which express time in the Bible. One word for time is “chronos”. This word refers to chronological time. It is the appropriate word to use when speaking of the passing of time.

Another Biblical word for time is “Kairos”. This refers to time as a significant moment. “The time of action is now.” “To everything there is a season; a time for every person under heaven.” “In the fullness of time.” These understandings of time are recognized as referring to a particular moment.

Most of us can relate to both of these understandings of time. It is important to grasp their differences as we navigate our lives.

Time is a gift. When we spend time with loved ones, when we are granted the prospect of more time by a medical procedure, when other events occur which give us the feeling of “more time” we value such a gift, and we are thankful for it.

There are special moments of time in our lives which have profound meaning. Reflecting on these may well lead us into a deeper level of insight into the power of time in our lives, and it may lead us to a deep level of spiritual discovery. Examples of such times include:

The first moment you held your own child in your arms

Driving away from campus after leaving that child at the dorm on the first day of college

The exchange of last words with a loved one as they slip from this life to the next

These experiences, and many more, represent the times in our lives when profound moments leave an imprint in our souls which will live in us and help to define our future.

What are the times in your life which have captured the essence of significant relationships and will live forever in your memory? How do you relate to such an experience? What do you learn from its impact on your life?

It is beneficial to reflect on the “time of our lives”, and it is important to give thanks for powerful moments. May they be used to guide us to wholeness and grace.

Memorial reminds community to find cancer early, get screened

SEA COAST ECHO

Memorial Cancer Center reminds patients to talk with their primary care providers about screening for cancer. Frequent screenings help find and treat pre-cancers and cancers early, before they have a chance to spread.

Memorial Medical

Oncologist Dr. Pamela Tuli said, "Cancer screening helps us to find cancer at early stages when treatment is more effective, increasing the chance of cure. There is effective screening for the most common causes of cancer deaths to include breast, lung and colorectal cancers. The COVID-19 pandemic has resulted in many elective procedures being put on hold, including cancer screening. We encourage you to get with your doctor to ensure that your cancer screening is up-to-date."

Below are the American Cancer Society's recommendations to help guide patients about when to screen for certain cancers.

Breast Cancer:

Women ages 40 to 44 should have the choice to start annual breast cancer screening with mammograms (x-rays of the breast) if they wish to do so.

Women ages 45 to 54 should get mammograms every year.

Women 55 and older should switch to mammograms every 2 years or can continue yearly screening.

Lung Cancer:

The American Cancer Society recommends yearly lung cancer screening with a low-dose CT scan (LDCT) for certain people at higher risk for lung cancer who meet the following conditions:

Are aged 55 to 74 years and in fairly good health and

Currently smoke or have quit smoking in the past 15 years and

Have at least a 30 pack-year smoking history. (A pack-year is 1 pack of cigarettes per day per year. One pack per day for 30 years or 2 packs per day for 15 years would both be 30 pack-years.)

Before getting screened, you should talk to your health care provider about:

Your risk for lung cancer

How you can quit smoking, if you still smoke

The possible benefits, limits, and harms of lung cancer screening

Where you can get screened

You should also talk with your insurance provider about your coverage.

Cervical Cancer:

Cervical cancer screening should start at age 25. People under age 25 should not be tested because cervical cancer is rare in this age group.

People between the ages of 25 and 65 should get a primary HPV (human papillomavirus) test* done every 5 years. If a primary HPV test is not available, a co-test (an HPV test with a Pap test) every 5 years or a Pap test every 3 years are still good options(*A primary HPV test is an HPV test that is done by itself for screening. The US Food and Drug Administration has approved certain tests to be primary HPV tests.)

The most important thing to remember is to get screened regularly, no matter which test you get.

People over age 65 who have had regular cervical cancer testing in the past 10 years with normal results should not be tested for cervical cancer. Once testing is stopped, it should not be started again. Those with a history of a serious cervical pre-cancer should continue to be tested for at least 25 years after that diagnosis, even if testing goes past age 65.

Colon and rectal cancer and polyps:

For people at average risk for colorectal cancer, the American Cancer Society recommends starting regular screening at age 45. This can be done tenced him to 45 years in prison without chance of parole.

Waveland police arrested Trest in the case in February 2019 after a family member had told officers the victims — both girls under 10 years of age — had disclosed the abuse.

“I had never met those girls before, ever” Mary-Kate B. of Chillicothe, Oh.
— Trest’s biological granddaughter — said this week, “and they couldn’t tell me anything about their abuse, which I understood, but after hearing their situation, it was chillingly similar. It was always while your mom and dad and siblings were nearby. It never was at night time, it was always during the day, and always when people were around. ... It was just so similar — the grooming and everything was the same. He got off on it with so many people so close. It was a game to him.”

Mary-Kate praised District Attorney W. Crosby Parker, his staff and Waveland investigators for their careful handling of the case, including their care and support for the victims and witnesses.

“I’m just super impressed with them,” Mary-Kate said. “We supposedly have people like that here in Chillicothe, but I went 18 months without talking with a children’s advocate. I never met with anybody. It just blew me away.

“I’m 25 years old now, so I’ve spent the past 13 years healing. I have been the voice for my brothers for the past 13 years, so I’ve had a lot of time to process this.”

Mary-Kate said that although her family reported the case to Chillicothe authorities — and Trest even admitted what he had done — her case never went to trial.

“The social worker who helping us, she was helpful, but her hands were tied,” Mary-Kate said. “It was in the prosecutor and judge’s hands, but they didn’t do anything with it. He never even had to register as a sex offender.
... All they did was offer him therapy to reverse his pedophilia, but there is no reforming a child predator.

“I feel like, ‘Bravo, Mississippi!’
and ‘Boo, Chillicothe!’”

Today, Mary-Kate said, she and her brothers defy the stigma and stereotypes unfairly attached to sexual assault victims, and she hopes Trest’s latest victims do, as well.

“I’m doing great,” she said. “All of my brothers and all are doing well. We all have had the same jobs from when we first started working.

“I’m just thankful that we had good parents that cared about our mental health and got us counseling from the time it happened. ... I continued counseling after I turned 18. I wanted to be calm about it. It was important for me to be calm and be strong.

“Absolutely, there’s this kind of stigma against sexual abuse survivors that we’re going to be damaged in some sense or another, but I just don’t accept that. I was sexually molested by my grandfather. Yes, many people who are abused become drug offenders, or molesters themselves, but that hasn’t happened to us. I don’t want you to look at me and think, ‘Wow, what has she been through?’ I don’t want any of us to fall prey to that. It was unfair and none of it was our fault, but we just have to deal with it.”

Mary-Kate said she is grateful to Mississippi for finally putting the predator away.

“He was finally held accountable for what he’s done to all of us,” she said.

2019 Drinking Water Quality Report City of Waveland PWS 0230002

Is my water safe?

We are pleased to present this year's Annual Water Quality Report (Consumer Confidence Report) as required by the Safe Drinking Water Act (SDWA). This report is designed to provide details about where your water comes from, what it contains, and how it compares to standards set by regulatory agencies. This report is a snapshot of last year's water quality. We are committed to providing you with information because informed customers are our best allies.

Do I need to take special precautions?

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/Centers for Disease Control (CDC) guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by Cryptosporidium and other microbial contaminants are available from the Safe Water Drinking Hotline (800-426-4791).

Where does my water come from?

Our water source is from wells drawing from the Graham Ferry Formation Aquifer.

Source water assessment and its availability

The source water assessment ranks our water supply as moderate for susceptibility to contamination. This report is available in the office.

Why are there contaminants in my drinking water?

Drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791). The sources of drinking water (both tap water and bottled water) include rivers, lakes, streams, ponds, reservoirs, springs, and wells. As water travels over the surface of the land or through the ground, it dissolves naturally occurring minerals and, in some cases, radioactive material, and can pick up substances resulting from the presence of animals or from human activity: microbial contaminants, such as viruses and bacteria, that may come from sewage treatment plants, septic systems, agricultural livestock operations, and wildlife; inorganic contaminants, such as salts and metals, which can be naturally occurring or result from urban stormwater runoff, industrial, or domestic wastewater discharges, oil and gas production, mining, or farming; pesticides and herbicides, which may come from a variety of sources such as agriculture, urban stormwater runoff, and residential uses; organic Chemical Contaminants, including synthetic and volatile organic chemicals, which are by-products of industrial processes and petroleum production, and can also come from gas stations, urban stormwater runoff, and septic systems; and radioactive contaminants, which can be naturally occurring or be the result of oil and gas production and mining activities. In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations that limit the amount of certain contaminants in water provided by public water systems. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) regulations establish limits for contaminants in bottled water which must provide the same protection for public health.

How can I get involved?

If you have any questions concerning your drinking water, please contact Mickey Lagasse at 228-467-4134

Description of Water Treatment Process

Your water is treated by disinfection. Disinfection involves the addition of chlorine or other disinfectant to kill dangerous bacteria and microorganisms that may be in the water. Disinfection is considered to be one of the major public health advances of the 20th century.

Monitoring and reporting of compliance data violations

VIOLATION: FAILURE TO SEND CONFIRMATION OF CONSUMER CONFIDENCE REPORT DISTRIBUTION TO THE MISSISSIPPI STATE HEALTH DEPARTMENT BY JULY 1ST 2019.
CORRECTION: EMAILED CONFIRMATION OF CONSUMER CONFIDENCE REPORT DISTRIBUTION TO THE MISSISSIPPI STATE HEALTH DEPARTMENT ON JULY 8TH 2019.
Results of voluntary monitoring

To comply with the “Regulation Governing Fluoridation of Community Water Supplies”, MS0230002 is required to report certain results pertaining to fluoridation of our water system. The number of months in the previous calendar year in which average fluoride sample results were within the optimal range of 0.6-1.2 ppm was 4. The percentage of fluoride samples collected in the previous calendar year that was within the optimal range of 0.6-1.2 ppm was 46%.

Additional Information for Lead

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. City of Waveland is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline or at <http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead>.

Water Quality Data Table

In order to ensure that tap water is safe to drink, EPA prescribes regulations which limit the amount of contaminants in water provided by public water systems. The table below lists all of the drinking water contaminants that we detected during the calendar year of this report. Although many more contaminants were tested, only those substances listed below were found in your water. All sources of drinking water contain some naturally occurring contaminants. At low levels, these substances are generally not harmful in our drinking water. Removing all contaminants would be extremely expensive, and in most cases, would not provide increased protection of public health. A few naturally occurring minerals may actually improve the taste of drinking water and have nutritional value at low levels. Unless otherwise noted, the data presented in this table is from testing done in the calendar year of the report. The EPA or the State requires us to monitor for certain contaminants less than once per year because the concentrations of these contaminants do not vary significantly from year to year, or the system is not considered vulnerable to this type of contamination. As such, some of our data, though representative, may be more than one year old. In this table you will find terms and abbreviations that might not be familiar to you. To help you better understand these terms, we have provided the definitions below the table.

Shore Thing: Business and Pleasure

Shore Thing Fishing Report BY CPT. SONNY SCHINDLER

We mixed a little business and pleasure recently, and boy was it a great time. For the most part, our guides don't get to see our families a whole lot, this time of year. Our wives all work, and what little free time we have is spent with the kiddos. Our families literally had to book a trip to hang out with us.

What really happened, was some terrible weather opened up a small window of "free time" at the Cat island house. My wife Stephanie, and daughter Margot joined myself, Capt Matt Tusa and his wife Lauren, son Gray and Syrus, and daughter Fiona.

Rounding out our crew was our dear friends David Davis and Shannon Ingram from Arkansas. Care taker "Cat Island Chris" was also along for the fun.

We tried to do a little bit of everything, and sometimes nothing. It was a real treat to let the kids call the shots. Matt's younger kids wanted to play on the beach, Margot wanted to catch a shark, and Dave n Shannon wanted to explore the island. In between the waves of bad weather, we made everyone's wish come true.

Yes, we did fish a bit. The trout were very cooperative, even though the weather wasn't. We just got out when we could and made the most of it. Matt's family eats fish daily, so they were happy to keep some fish to eat in the coming weeks.

I'm not gonna lie, the food was insanely tasty. We had some true gourmet meals prepared by our Arkansas buddies.

My wife also brought out some breakfast casseroles and cinnamon rolls that were painfully delicious.

Like all of our family outings, it went by way too fast. We took a bunch of Pictures, that with the memories, will hopefully last forever. It has been over a year since Matt and I have taken family vacations. This was without a doubt, one of the best ones we've ever had. It was never about how many fish we caught, it was more about the time together. Matt and I already looking forward to booking a trip with our family and friends.

As always, have fun and be safe.

Young Eagles Take Flight

SEA COAST ECHO

Many children have a dream of flying in an airplane and thanks to the EAA (Experimental Aircraft Association) that dream can become a reality for them. EAA has a program called Young Eagles. Since 1992 this program has dedicated more than 25 years to giving youth, ages 8 – 17, their first experience flying in an airplane.

Its mission is to introduce aviation to youth and inspire them to explore the possibility of flight in their future. These flights are made possible through the generosity of local EAA Chapters throughout the United States and EAA Chapter Members holding events and volunteering their time taking kids up in airplanes. As of today, the Young Eagles Program has flown over 2 million kids.

On May 8th, 2021 EAA Chapter 479, Diamondhead, Mississippi, held a Young Eagles event, and with the help from EAA Chapter 697 Members, Slidell, Louisiana, they flew eleven St. Martin High School Air Force JROTC Cadets. This was Chapter 479 and 697's first Young Eagles event in almost 2 years due to COVID.

This event was coordinated by EAA Chapter 479's President, Marty Ammond, and the ROTC Instructor, Retired USAF Colonel John "Hoss" Ladner. Many volunteers came together to make this event happen such as the Young Eagle Coordinators, pilots, and cooks who provided lunch. Three pilots volunteered in this event: John Fletcher, Jack Hoppper, and Randy Turner.

Each Cadet was given the chance to fly at least twice which allowed every Cadet to take the controls and fly the plane. Each Cadet received a logbook documenting their flights. Thanks to EAA and Sporty's Pilot Shop each Cadet will also have the opportunity to complete the ground school portion of their training at no cost if they choose to continue to pursue learning how to fly.

The Diamondhead Fire Department also participated in the event and offered a hands-on demonstration for the Cadets to learn about their duties as firemen.

EAA Chapter 479 and EAA Chapter 697 have been flying Mississippi JROTC Cadets for the past several years as they have flown nearly 100 Cadets to date.

Meet OLD MAN.

Hands (paws) down, he is the sweetest cat at our shelter. He is joyful, loving, and possesses the soul of a kitten. He loves to play with toys, but his passion in life is to be petted, give "head bumps," and purr in deep appreciation. He just needs someone return all of the love that he has to give. We hope that this old man finds his someone special very soon. He is friendly with other kitties, but his preference is people. Old Man is available as an inside only companion. He is litter box trained and utilizes a scratching post. This senior sweetie is approximately 8 to 10 years old, but actually, in cat years, he's only middle aged! So, he has many years of unconditional love to give his new family. If you are interested in adopting this super sweet, mellow dude, please call the shelter at 228 466 4516 to arrange a meet and greet. You will fall in love with Old Man.

Invitational artists will be eligible to apply for The Jane Crater Hiatt Artist Fellowship—a grant of up to $20,000 awarded to one artist. The recipient will be announced during an opening reception on August 13.

MMA Director Betsy Bradley said, “The might and fortitude of artists has always been an inspiration to me. In the face of all that is contrary, they summon the courage and strength to make something that speaks their truth to other people. And our communities are better for it. The 2021 Mississippi Invitational demonstrates that the power to make something beautiful, to survive, to connect with ideas and with others, can be stronger than the temptation to withdraw.”

A publication accompanying the exhibition will be available in The Museum Store.

During the month of August 2021, MMA will offer free admission as a way to welcome visitors back after the pandemic.

The Mississippi Invitational and its biennial exhibition and catalog are made possible with support from the Community Foundation for Mississippi/Jane Crater Hiatt Fund. The opening events are sponsored by Ross & Yerger.

doffed their hats and kneeled at the sight of the cross. Afterward, they returned to their ship. Shieldsboro was thus saved from destruction, and the street at that location has ever since been named Union Street.

John Francis Hamtramck (JFH) Claiborne (1807-1884) lived at Laurel Wood Plantation on Mulatto Bayou. He speculated in slaves, cotton, and land. He was a gentleman farmer/planter who owned one hundred slaves growing Sea Island cotton earning an annual income of $6,000. Like many people in Hancock County, he survived during the Civil War by maintaining contact with both sides without being shot for treason. In fact, both armies needed various products from planters such as cotton. In truth, Claiborne was a spy for the Union, providing intelligence about local salt production, Mobile Bay fortifications, and coastal smuggling activities. In return he was allowed to transport some of his cotton and some of his neighbors harvest for much needed hard currency. On the other hand, simultaneously, he was made a purchasing agent to Belgium for the CSA sending cotton through the blockade. Furthermore, Claiborne urged the Union general at Fort Pike, twelve miles from Laurel Wood, to allow trade of much needed foodstuffs like flour for the citizens of the coast who were having a hard time acquiring enough to eat. After the war, in 1870, Claiborne moved to Natchez after inheriting a much larger plantation from his mother-in-law called Dumbarton Plantation. Claiborne is remembered also as the most distinguished Mississippi historian of that period. He published Mississippi as a Province, Territory, and a State in 1879.

The fall of Vicksburg in July of 1863 gave the Union complete control of the Mississippi River. Consequently, this achievement divided the Confederacy. Blockade running continued through the port of Mobile until Admiral Farragut engaged the forts and the CSA Navy in the famous navel battle at Mobile where he is remembered for his order to “Damn the torpedoes, full steam ahead!” In the last year of the war, the only port left for the Confederacy was Galveston. Galveston was a shallow water port with poor railroad connections. The naval blockade was completed with the fall of Galveston in June 1865.

In conclusion, the naval theater of the Civil War saw the Union construct a successful strategy of blockade that prevented the CSA from building a full scale war economy. Although there were twenty-five hundred successful trips by schooners and other steamers through the blockade, the key to the success of this strategy was deterrence. The amount of goods transported to and from the South during the Civil War amounted to only one eighth of the volume of trade the region usually enjoyed before the war.

Seamen and sailors from Hancock County like John Poitevent served with distinction in the Confederate Navy. The wives and older inhabitants of the county were left behind after the young men departed to serve in far away places. As a result they were subject to hardships including harassment by soldiers and bandits as well as deprivation for lack of foodstuffs and supplies. Recovery after the war occurred with the re-opening of the sawmills, the building of the railroads, and the return of the fleet of fishermen to the coastal hamlets. Nevertheless, the sacrifices made by the men and women of Hancock County during the Civil War are still remembered and respected to this day.
